> BY THOMAS L. STOKES. Washington, August 30 .- For the first time a hint was given here today that the administration would look all have been funded and conditions can pay.

The intimation came from a high government official who was discuss ing the plea for cancellation made by Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the Wilson administration, which was given a cold reception. It was pointed out that the principal object in view has been to get the debts settled. The United States wants to get the debts settled, it was then said significantly, in order that economic conditions in Europe will be adjusted and this government can learn what the nations will be able to pay. In other words, if conditions show after the debts have been settled that the campaign of United States Senator the burden is too heavy, then this Hiram Johnson, who has stumped the government would be willing to sup- state for Lieutenant Governor C. C. port a movement that looked toward Young, candidate for the gubernatorial scaling down of the payments.

France Is Key. The whole situation therefore hinges around France, since she is the only major nation who has not funded her obligation. There is good reason to believe that some intimation of this government's willingness to consider revision program has been given France, and that she bas been urged to ratify the debt settlement in order that the general movement may get under way. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is in Paris now and expects to sail home about September 11. The movement, it is believed, would start with an appeal to the people, who heretofore have shown little interest in the foreign debts, on the Tammany Hall plot to control the general fine that this country had democratic party and swing the 1928 stepped in at the last minute to win i pre the war, and now the opportunity is Al Smith in 1928. Concerning former Secretary of War Baker's plea for cancellation, it was said at the treasury that any such move must come from congress, which is the final authority in debt settlements, and that the debt commission has nothing to do with it. Mellon's Letter Discussed.

This is the argument that the treasury has advanced always. It was set forth by Secretary Mellon-in his recent letter to Frederick W. Peabody, cent letter to Frederick W. Penbody, of Boston, who urged cancellation in a long communication to the secretary. Mellon's letter was referred to today as the present position of the government, and as answering Baker's arguments, all of which h d been advanced by Penbody, it was said.

Mellon said that if the American people wanted the debts cancelled, they could issue the mandate through their representatives in congress.

"But neither generally from the people, nor in the press, nor from representatives of the people in congress has come this demand," he said.

New York, August 30.—Ex-Governor John M. Slaton, of Atlanta, Ga., spent two months motoring up and down western Europe. He saw many sights and heard many pleasant things, sat under distinguished orators in legislative halls, studied life at Biarritz and Deauville and went to a bull fight at San Sebastian. Yet, the happening he enjoyed most in his whole trip, he said Monday at the Warldorf-Astoria before he and Mrs. Slaton left for Atlanta, had been his encounter with a Georgia negro in the Rue Ober, Paris.

"I was looking for No. 9 Rue Ober, to see about some freight that had been forwarded by air," said Slaton, "and I accosted a man near there who looked as if he might have spent some time in the sun; or, I took it, he might have been an Algerian, I had launched bravely into my stock of French, but evidently he did not follow me. Instead of answering mefluently in the same tongue, he looked at me with an air of reproach.

"Boss,' he said, 'please suh don't talk to me in dat'er French. You is an American. I'se jee' a plain Savannah, Georgia, nigger.' When he heard that I was too from Georgia, I thought he would go into raptures. He said that whenever an American came along he just had to ask him to talk like folks from home."

HEARING RECESSED FOR SEVERAL DAYS

Mrs. Manley Says Her Money Gave Husband Financial Start; Appeal on Sanity Verdict Taken

Repeated efforts to prove that W. D. Manley, president of the defunct Bankers' Trust company, transferred all of his assets to the W. D. Manley Company, Inc., so that his financial nterests would be saved for his family if he were declared bankrupt, were made Monday by attorneys representing the banker's creditors in the hearing on an involuntary bankruptcy petition before Federal Commissioner Joe Abbott.

The hearing, which has been in progress since last Friday and which has revealed many sensational high lights in the Atlanta financier's eareer, was recessed shortly before 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and will be resumed on agreement of counsel. Attorney R. H. Jones, Jr., representing petitioners in the case, anounced to the court that he had no more witnesses to introduce at the moment and asked for a recess. The hearing is not likely to be reopened this week, it was intimated by counsel on both sides.

In addition to a systematic attack on Manley's motives in buying the charter of the W. D. Manley Company, Inc., to which he transferred his personal assets, other important developments in the case Monday Wife Gave Financial Start. Mrs. Manley took the stand in defense of her husband and testified that she had given him his financia start in life with the sum of $5,500. Whatever he was worth, Mrs. Manley testified, was made trading on money furnished by her.

Denial in open court by Judge Arthur Powell, of counsel for Manley, of any ulterior motive for the p-tition for guardianship for the banker was made. Judge Powell declared that the public would be convinced that a sincere effort was being made to apply every dollar and every piece of property owned by Manley to satisfy his debts.

Shortly after Sheriff Evans left, before Sheriff Tanner had an opportunity to return to his room, the masked men rushed into the building and demanded the keys. The sheriff and several of the men scuffled over the keys, but the officer was overpowered. During the scuffle Sheriff Tanner bit one of his assailants. It is hoped to later establish identity of at least one of the mob by means of this injury.

Guns Flourished.

About half a dozen of the men brought guns into play and held the sheriff and his wife at the point of pistols while another detachment opened the cells and sought out Wright.

The entire incident was done quickly and indicated well-laid plans. Further proof of perfect organization tay in the fact that while they were securing Wright from the jail another band of masked men in another part of the town, held up Policemen Shaw. Miller and Sheriff Evans, who, after delivering his prisoner to Sheriff Tanner, had joined the two other Douglas officers.

President Coolidge spent the morning at the executive offices, transacting government business and receiving visitors. At one time he stepped to a telegraph key and opened the new building of The New York Evening Post by setting the presses in operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, who have been guests at White Pine camp for several weeks, are to leave tomorrow for Swamp-scott, Mass., while Mrs. Elmyra Goodhue, of Northampton, Mass., mother of Mrs. Coolidge, will arrive for a visit. No comment was made today at the executive offices on the proposal of Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, former secretary of war, for a revision of the war-time debts.

This transpired here today following a conference between President Coolidge and Matthew C. Brush, president of the American International corporation, which owns a large block of stock in the International Mercantile Marine. The latter is an American concern which is the holding company for the British White Star line and other foreign ship lines.

Mr. Brush said that it is unimportant what flag the shipping board ships are operated under after they are sold. They cannot be operated at a profit under the American flag, he asserted, on account of the higher wage scales and other operating costs in the American merchant marine and that would be sufficient reason for placing the ships under a foreign flag. If the international merchant marine should acquire the American the States line and sail under the British flag.

Pedigree Milk is richer for very definite reasons. It comes, every drop of it, from selected herds.

IS RICHER AND MORE PURE

Pedigree Milk is purer because of equally definite safeguards. All dairies furnishing milk to the Southern Cream & Milk Company are inspected personally by officials of the company. In addition, every drop of Pedigree Pasteurized Milk, Cream and Buttermilk is heated to 145 degrees, held at that temperature for thirty minutes, then chilled and kept on ice until delivered.

This process, called pasteurization, kills all harmful bacteria and makes the milk as pure bacteriologically as scientific knowledge and the most modern machinery in the South can possibly make it.

Order Pedigree Milk, Cream and Buttermilk from your grocer or druggist. Ask for it at hotels, cafes, clubs and fountains.

Every hour 25 tons of cool, clean air are poured into the theatre. This means that every particle of air is replaced with a fresh one every five minutes. The temperature never exceeds 72 degrees F and the relative humidity never exceeds 55%-an ideal condition.

DEBT CANCEILATION
OPPOSED BY WILLIS.
Columbus, Ohio, August 30,—(P)—
With the declaration that "natious cannot succed that treat lightly their obligations," Senator Frank B. Willis in a statement here tonight came out flatly in opposition to cancellation by the United States of debts of the ailies and associated powers.

Although he mentioned no names, Senator Willis in effect replied to a published article of Newton D. Baker, war-time secretary of war, declaring that the United States should cancel debts owed it by foreign nations.

"It is, of course, desirable that American foreign trade should be extended, but when the extension of this trade is made by shouldering additional burdens upon the taxpayers, it is too high a price, and such price ought not to be paid," he said.

"America has been fair and even generous in dealing with those nations indebted to it.

"A nation must be just before it is generous. It would be an injustice unspeakable to cancel the American debt on the theory that by so doing our foreign trade would be enlarged. European debts are just and binding obligations and it is time that we should see whether the honesty which we praise in an individual is to be forgotten amongst nations."

New Combination of Yeast With Vegetable Iron Builds Up Weight in Three Weeks

Weight in Three Weeks

Thin, run-down and underweight men, women and children can improve their health, increase their energy and put on from five to twenty pounds of good solid flesh in three weeks.

A new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with the vitamines that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. It makes no difference how old you are—or how young you are—how long you have been underweight—or how much underweight you are, "ironized yeast" tablets are positively guaranteed to the property of good from the result of the property of good from the property

Fomeroy in Fulton superior court of a temporary injunction restraining any alteration of the status of assets of Manley following filing of a suit by the Bank of Dania, Fla., against Manley, the W. D. Manley company and Arthur Acklin. The suit asked that a receivership be appointed, but Judge Pomeroy failed to appoint a receiver September 11 was set as date for hearing on a rule nisi ordering the defendants to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be granted. According to this petition, the Bank of Dania holds notes for $6,500 against Manley and sets forth that on July 7 Manley transferred to the W. D. Maniey company bonds, stocks and notes involving more than $500.000. This was a part of a scheme on the part of Manley to "defraud his creditors," the suit set out. Acklim, a defendant in the suit, now has custody of the papers and the petition set out that unless the court intervened Manley might command Acklin to hand the papers over to him.

Banker Was Warned.

Herbert Hans, employed by Manley as attorney in the incorporation of the W. D. Manley Company, Inc., declared Monday in federal court on cross-examination by Carl N. Davie, representing the state banking department, that he believed Manley to be wealthy and that the banker believed himself far from insolvent.

"Then why did you think it necessary to warn him regarding the transfer of shares in the W. D. Manley Company, Inc., to Mrs. Manley would be subjected to the closest scrutiny by receivers?" asked Attorney Davie.

"That is just a general warning—on I would make in any case," replied Mr. Haas.

"That is just a general warning—on: I would make in any case," replied Mr. Haas.

Attorney Smythe Gambrell read into the court record: the letter which carried the "warning." It was dated in July, shortly before Manley transferred his assets to the charter, which plaintiffs charge that he purchased "just to get a charter quick."

Answer To Letter.

A letter answering this communication of Mr. Haas from the banker also was read into the records. It stated that one share of the stock in the company would go to Mrs. Manley and one to Miss Lena Long, his confidential secretary. His letter stated that his Georgia assets were valued at $500,000 and that he owned one-half of $2,500,000 in assets in Florida holdings jointly with J. R. Anthony. This letter was dated July 8.

The R. E. Stone, returned a verdict that Manley was a person of sound mind following a four-day hearing in the Fulton county ordinary's court.

The appeal was filed by the law firm of Little, Powell, Smith & Goldstein. Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, Fulton county ordinary, will transmit to the superior court clerk in the next few days all testimony submitted during the hearing. It will then be placed on the docket for trial, which probably will mean that the appeal will not be heard within the next three or four months.

Powell's Statement.

Judge Powell's statement follows "We are filing the appeal to preerve the status pending developments. It may not be pressed to trial. However, it is my personal opinion that in a short while such developments will have transpired in Mr. Manley's condition and such progress will have been made in the efforts of his family and of his counsel to see that every dollar he has and every piece of property of every kind that he owns is placed where it will go to satisfy his debt, that the unfounded, but deep-seated, suspicion, which undoubtedly existed at the time of the trial in the ordinary's court, that there were edly existed at the time of the trial in the ordinary's court, that there was some ulterior motive back of the ap-plication for guardianship will be dis-sipated. ALARMING!

The traffic toll in the south is on the increase. The lives yielded to reckless driving, slippery and unsafe roads, grade crossings, etc., are greater in average and ratio numbers than those yielded in war. It is almost unthinkable. Try as we may to strengthen traffic laws, to make enforcement more rigid, to educate motorists to use caution at all times, and yet the situation gets worse instead of getting better.

The Hoover conference of a few onths ago is recalled. A state wide conference is shortly to be held in Georgia. The Atlanta Safety Council is doing splendid work. But, with all of the combined efforts to make streets and highways safe they are constantly being made more unsafe. Rum running is undoubtedly contributing very largely to the situation-and a distressing one It is.

Every citizen ought to give serious thought to this problem of traffic hazards and menaces.

PLAYGROUNDS OPEN!

Atlanta's first season of winter laygrounds for her 70,000 school children was officially opened Monday. This program, long needed in Atlanta, became a realization recently when the city council parks committee voted to throw open the playgrounds the year round. It is only in experimental stage and city council will be asked to vote its confidence of the splendid plan at the next meeting by appropriating $3,000 to continue the program.

The idea, conceived by the parks board, under the direction of Councilman John A. White, is one of the greatest achievements of any board in the history of the city. It means that the sturdy type of childhood, so typical of American ideals can be fostered in Atlanta under the direction of capable playground teachers. It means that the 70,000 school children in this city will not be forced to find their amusement had been favorably commented on on the streets, but under favorable by press and public throughout the conditions on clean, wholesome Rates Are Lowered.

Reduced rates on station-to-station associated to begin at 7 p. m. instead of 8:30 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. the discount will be approximately 25 per cent of the day station-to-station rates, and from 8:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. about 50 per cent of the day rates. These discounts will apply where the day station-to-station rate is 40 cents or more, with a minimum reduced rate of 35 cents. Because of the unsatisfactory service conditions it brought about, the exconditions it brought about, the existing midnight discount will be dis

Under the new schedule station-tostation calls may be made at substantial reductions as early at 7 p. m., and persons wishing to take advantage of the lowest rates of the 24 hours may make their calls any time after 8:30 p. m. Thus, although the midnight discount is discontinued, the longer reduced rate period and the substantial reductions applying in basic rates to distant points mean that this change will make little difference in the cost of night calls. Simultaneous with these changes

Simultaneous with these changes in practices and charges there will be a substantial reduction in rates for long distance telephone calls to a large number of important points outside the state of Georgia. The greater the distance the greater the reduction will be. For example, the basic station-to-station rate from Atlanta to Memphis will be $1.85 instead of $2.30; to New Orleans, $2.20 instead of $2.85; to Washington, D. C., $2.65 instead of $3.50; to Chicago, $2.75 instead of $3.70; to Miami, $2.90 instead of $3.70; to New York, $3.45 instead of $4.75; and to San Francisco, $9.40 instead of $13.65. Similar reductions will be true from all cities in Georgia to many important points outside the state.

Reversed Charges on Station-to-Station Calls

Effective October 1, 1926, the privilege of reversing charges on long distance calls will be extended to include station-to-station calls to points outside the State of Georgia where the rate is 25 cents or more. This added convenience and economy will be available whether the call is placed during the day, evening or night.

Longer Reduced Rate Period

On the same date the reduced rate hours for stationto-station calls to points outside the State will begin at 7 P. M. instead of 8:30 P. M., as formerly. Between 7 and 8:30 P. M., the discount will be approximately 25 per cent of the day station-to-station rates; from 8:30 P. M. to 4:30 A. M., the discount will be about 50 per cent of the day rates. These discounts will apply where the day station-to-station rated is 40 cents or more, with a minimum reduced rate of 35 cents. Because of the unsatisfactory service conditions which it brought about, the existing midnight discount will be discontinued to all points.

Reductions in Long Distance Rates

Simultaneously with these changes there will be a substantial reduction in the rates for long distance telephone calls to a large number of important points outside the State of Georgia. The greater the distance the greater the reduction will be.

For example: The basic station-to-station rate from Atlanta to Memphis, Tenn., will be $1.85 instead of $2.30; to New Orleans, $2.20 instead of $2.85; to Washington, D. The net result of these rate changes throughout the Bell System will be a saving to the telephone users of the United States of approximately $3,000,000 a year. The service changes are made in the interests of public convenience and to furnish still better long distance service.

It was at East Lake and Bob had just driven his ball with his apparent lack of preparation and with the ridiculous ease which marks nearly every shot he makes. A member of the gallery turned to a companion and asked, "Does Bobby always hurry his tee shots like that?" Before the recipient of the question could answer, Bob, who had overheard the question, said: "I like to get the thing away before I think of all the different things I can do with it."

The statement was made more than half in jest but it rang of the philosophy of golf. Many, meny dubs could listen to these words

Johnston Outstanding In U. S. Doubles Play

_(A)_Sixteen teams, including the Brookline, Mass., August 30 .-Davis cup players of America and France, came through the opening round of the national doubles championship today without an upset.

Short and decisive trimphs fell to of William J. Johnston and the intercollegiate champion, Edward G. 1150 Hurt Bldg. Chandler. All three teams came through their initial tests in straight sets, as did the French combination of Jean Bo-the French combination of Jean Borotra-Rene La Coste and Jacques Brugnon-Henri Cochet. The sixth pair of the seeded entries—Lewis N. White and Louis Thalheimer, of Texas—was less impressive, however.

The clay court champions, who last year accomplished a sensational upset in overthrowing Borotra and La Coste, had to go five raggedly played sets to put ot. A. G. Watters and C. E. Granger, of New Orleans, the southern title holders, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Neither White nor Thalheimer appeared to be at the peak of his game. They were particularly unreliable overhead, and the New Orleans pair were quick to take advantage of their erratic smashing by lobbing deeply at every opportunity. With the set scores tied at two-all, the former intercollegiate stars finally braced, breaking through Watters' service in the sixth game to gain what proved to be the winning advantage of the battle.

One-sided matches gave the gallery few thrills during the afternoon's play, and most of them came from the racquet of Johnston. He was more and most of them came from the racquet of Johnston. He was more decisive in his volleying, more sure of his ripping forehand and more brisk in his court covering than at any previous period of his eastern campaign. Chandler's steadiness and covering service were also factors in campaign. Chandre's steadness and powerful service were also factors in the Californians' triumph over the Leland Stanford contingent, Lionel Ogden and Cranston Holman, 6-1, 6-1, 8-6.

Glaring errors punctuated the brilliant net play of Richards and Williams in their match against Lem Baker and J. W. Hubell, of Kansas City, the Missouri valley champions, which was decided in straight sets, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.

Tilden and Chapin, although puz-Tilden and Chapin, although puzzled by the terrific serving of Wallace Scott, were extended at no point of their match against the Seattle, Wash., player and Theodore McDonald, winning at 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

NEW RECORD 1926 Outlook Good As Players Report For Early Workouts

Piedmont Park and Grady Field Scenes of First Football Practice of Early Workouts of Tech and Boys' High Squads—Other Teams to Start Practice Next Week.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Despite the hot weather, two Atlanta football coaches sounded first call yesterday afternoon and each was greeted by a goodly number of candidates for the teams of two leading Atlanta schools in the prep loop.

Coach Claude Tolbert, of Tech high, was faced by about 35 men at Grady field, while about 20 candidates for the Boys' high eleven met Coach Shorty Doyal at Piedmont park.

This is the first time that prep football practice has been started so early, but both coaches were anxious to get fundamentals of the game drilled into their candidates as early as possible. Other prep schools will not begin practice until next week, when the schools open.

Smithles Look Promising.

Coaches and officials at Tech high are looking forward to one of the best teams in the Smithie institution's history. Prospects for a good backfield are better than they have ever been, and Coach Tolbert's only worry will be the building of his line between the tackles and even there he is not without promising material.

Yesterday, at practice, there were the south of the same to the smithies.

Several good players have come to Boys' high via the junior high school without promising material.

Yesterday, at practice, there were nine candidates for the backfield, all of practically equal promise. each is fast, and knows how to get away, and several of them are good kickers.

Waugh, Battle and Bardwell, look to be the best trio of the bunch, if it is possible to pick a "best" combination at this early date.

Hopes were not so high last yea and yet Shorty turned out a team that did what no other Boys' high teat had done for more than 10 years-beat the Smithies.

Several good players have come t Boys' high via the junior high school route, and using these along win Captain Turner and Ragan, guards Fincher and Nash, tackles; Coffee tackle; Wynne, end, and Shivers in the backfield, Coach Doyal hopes a turn out a good team, and will mos likely do it.

Practice yesterday afternoon at bott schools consisted of the usual lectures, catching passes, going down under punts and calesthenics.

New York, August 30.—The Yankees dropped a loose game to the Senators today by a score of 12 to 6. Jos Jodge helped Walter Johnson assume a commanding position when he drove out a home run with the bases filled in the first inning. Johnson went the distance for the winners but the loosers called on Jones, Braxton, Beall and McQuald in order. The Yanks scored we of their six rahs in the last two innings. The Box Scores.

Chicago, August 30.—Chicago's winning streak of eight consecutive games was broken today when the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Cubs. 3 to 2, in the second game of the series, it was the first game Pete Donohue had won after losing six in a row. The visitors made their runs by bunching their blows behind Blake's hases on balls. Donohue was hit freely but kept the hits widely scattered in all except the eighth inning when three blows gave the Cubs their two runs.

Bobby Is Invited To Play on Team In Golf League

St. Petersburg, Fla., August 30.—
Bobby Jones, British and American open golf champion, and American amateur title holder is eligible to compete in the new West Coast Golf league, organized with a circuit of six cities. Several famous amateurs, including Chick Evans, are expected here this winter and they will be eligible to play in the Sunshine City team. Walter Hagen, who held the British and American open championships on two occasions, is a professional and not eligible to represent this, his home city.

Cities in the new league are: Tampa, St. Petersburg, Clearwater, Bradenton, Lakeland and Sarasota. The league was organized to promote good fellowship, furnish spirited competition and foster sporting interest among the big army of winter tourists who make these cities their winter homes. The league schedule will be started November 1 and will end May 1. Temporary officers were chosen as follows: Louis Lancaster, Sarasota, president, and G. S. Robbins, St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, secretary.

Six-man teams of amateur golfers

Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, secretary.
Six-man teams of amateur golfers will be selected by each city. All matches are to be low ball foursomes. Winter tourists who live in any one of these cities through the season will be eligible. Every city in the league has a number of prominent amateur golfers, nationally known, counted among its winter residents.

New Role for Babe

Entries for The Constitution's water carnival which will be held at Piedmont park on September 3, 4 and 6, will be closed at noon on Wednesday, September 1. All blanks received at the office of The Constitution before 12 o'clock Wednesday noon will be turned over to the committee for arrangement in the events but blanks received after that time will not be entered. The reason for this closing time is that 48 hours are necessary to enable the committee to make final arrangements for the staging of the preliminary contests beginning Friday. With the entry list well above the four-score mark and the list of prizes rapidly mounting, interest in the gigantic athletic carnival is steadily growing.

The committee is now working out details of the program to be staged in connection with the final contests at Piedmont park on Labor day. In addition to the actual races there will be novelty stunts such as duck races, iounting contests, etc. jousting contests, etc.

Another added attraction will be the presence of the Charleston girls from the Howard theater, who will attend the meet under the leadership of Trinx Jackson, pretty Atlanta contest winner who is one of the cast at the Howard.

A band will be present for the occasion and it is possible that the champion Charlestoners may be persuaded to step a few steps out on the pier. Anyway, they will be on hand. Since the new swimming course was completed several days ago scores of contestants have been practicing their events and the life guards, who have been observing the racers in action report that some of the aquatic aspirants are making good time in their practice swims.

Remember—only one day before the entries close. If you wish to enter and have not filed your blank you must do so at once. An entry blank and the list of events can be found elsewhere

JACK ENGAGES IN SNAPPIEST OF WORKOUTS

Atlantic City., N. J., August 30. (P)—Jack Dempsey engaged in the snappiest workout today he has gone through since establishing his training camp here a week ago. He restricted his boxing to five rounds instead of the usual seven, but slashed away at the light and heavy punching bags for a round each and also went through a round with the pulleys winding up with a session of calesthenics. The champion's work was so im-

The champion's work was so impressive that Harry Greb, former world's middleweight titleholder, changed his opinion concerning the outcome of Dempsey's contest with Gene Tunney in Philadelphia September 23. Up until today, Greb said he had favored Tunney. Now he favors Dempsey.

Greb, who has fought Tunney five times for a total of 65 rounds, intently watched from a ringside seat every move Dempsey made.

"The champion certainly looked" move Dempsey made.

"The champion certainly looked improved today," Greb said. "He worked splendidly. He looks like the winner. But if he doesn't win within winner. But if he doesn't win within three or four rounds Tunney might beat him to the decision. Tunney is a good boxer and moves his head around so fast that he's no bargain to hit with a knockout punch."

Dempsey revealed more speed than heretofore and snapped over his punches with old-time viciousness. He devoted his attention to shooting over a right cross as a counter to a left jab; also driving rights under the heart. Dempsey boxed a round each with Charles Anderson, the Chicago 212-pounder; Bill Tate, Tillie "Kid" Herman, Frank Carpenter and Jimmy Brown.

INSTALLMENT XXXII. STRANGE DAYS.

Fairways guessed something of what was passing in her mind and smiled to himself. He knew that the Wakamba belonged to the mildest races in Africa in spite of their fearsome aspect, but he said nothing to enlighten Richenda on this point. It would, he reflected, suit his purpose better if she imagined the neighborhood in which he intended to camp far more dangerous than it really was.

Meanwhile, both had reached a point when they felt that the less speech there was between them the better. So, as the miles crawled by, they sat in silence. But one thought hammered ceaselssly through Richenda's brain. This man who had bent her will before his own-who had carried her off as primitive man might carry off his slave woman, who had so outrageously deceived her, had wooed and won her-keeping her deliberately in constant touch with the woman who had formerly been his-secretly insulting her by that very contact—this man who had taken her belonging for his own, even counted the money in her purse, this man of no doubt a score of evil intrigues in the years behind him-who them rang out across the silent country.

once possessed a wife of whom he had not troubled to tell her, this man who, in the years still to come, would embark on still further intrigues after he had tired of her, who had taken her trust, her faith, and broken both into shattered pieces, who then had laughed in her face . . .

This man-she hated him! Some day, somehow, she would get away from him!

The camping site that Fairways close in the late afternoon of the second day lay in a small hollow in the heart of an irregular clump of hills which blocked out any extensive view there might have been. The place was very wild, very lonely. Immediately they halted he had Richenda's tent erected.

"Make yourself quite comfortable," he directed. "We shall be remaining here for some time."

The days that came after were very strange to Richenda. At first Pairways kept very close in comp and spent long hours reading at the door of his tent, or lying on his back on the short grass, pipe between teeth, gazing from under close drawn brows up to the crude hard blue of the African sky. Always he was polite to her, never forced word or presence upon her. But the abyss between them remained as wide as

Their meals, with the exepction of early breakfast, they took together. Strangely, Richenda was glad of this. She hated that curiosity which, she sensed, lay in the mind of their three servants who, with but fittle to do, seemed to her sensitive nerves to be watching every action of herself and Fairways, and her pride rebelled at the hought that these untutored savages might guess something of her captive state.

Curious half hours those meals were. Scattered sentences of polite covnersation ran here and there through them, but in no way did the minds of these two so oddly situated in the wilderness come closer together.

Once he organized a shooting expedition still further into the wilds and this Richenda found herself expected to join since Fairways had no intention of leaving her behind in the camp.

"I'm sorry," he told her, "but that is really impossible. You see, I shall want Macheria and Jeroge to bring back the heads and skins, to carry the guns and for half a dozen other things and I should not care to leave you here with only the toto for company."
"Please do not consider me," she answered with the coldness which now was always in voice and eyes. "I no doubt shall be quite safe."

"We are starting in an hour's time. Kindly be quite ready." He ignored her half protest and walked away.

Richenda dug a white tooth angrily into the redness of her lower lip, but anxious not to imperil her dignity by useless argument she awaited him, fully equipped, at the appointed time.

In spite of everything she enjoyed the expedition, which made a pleasant break in days that had grown rather wearisome, and Fairways unbent to the extent of pointing out much that was of interest to her.

During the stay in camp before their marriage he had made of Richenda as skillful a shot as those short weeks had permitted, and with the rifle he now proffered her she brought down a gazelle which offered an easy mark, shot at another which skipped agilely into the bush, flickering its white rabbit-like tail gaily as it went. One or two other times she aimed at various small game, but missed her mark, then, smiling ruefully, slung the gun again across her shoulders.

They were tramping through coarse, man-high grass now, not able to see more than a few yards before them. Suddenly the foremost boy halted, then turned with a finger on his lips as a warning for silence and muttered a whispered word.

Fairways frowned, puzzled.
"Go carefully," he told her. "I don't know what the boy is trying to tell us. There's something ahead, but I can't get the English name for it. Water buck, perhaps."

They moved on with quiet steps till they saw through the grass a round short tufted clearing in front of them. Then Jeroge stood quite motionless and drew their attention to where, not sixty yards to the right, large, black, shadowlike patches moved slowly in the shade of a clump of stunted trees.

moved slowly in the shade of a clump of stunted trees.

"Good egg!" Fairsways' whisper was barely audible. "It's buffalo!"
He raised his rifle to his shoulder, taking slow and careful aim.
So far none of the herd had scented the nearness of the danger which threatened them. The presence of the humans had passed unseen by the old bull sentry which stood "nose upwind" ready to give a quick snort of warning if occasion for flight arose.
Richenda's eyes, wide with excitement, were fixed on the odd dozen unwieldy blue-black forms that moved so leisurely about the tree-shadowed turf. Buffalo. What mighty brutes they were! Someone had told her that hunters might search for weeks even in this game-infested country without seeing one. And now—so big—so near—so quiet! WINNIE WINKLE, fested country without seeing one. And now—so big—so near—so quiet! Such a chance to show what she could do! The spirit of the chase danced anew in her blood. If—if—suppose she—O, why not?

Suddenly the noise of two reports, with barely a second's pause between them, rang out across the silent country.

"Good heavens!" Fairways' steel blue eyes flashed sideways at her,

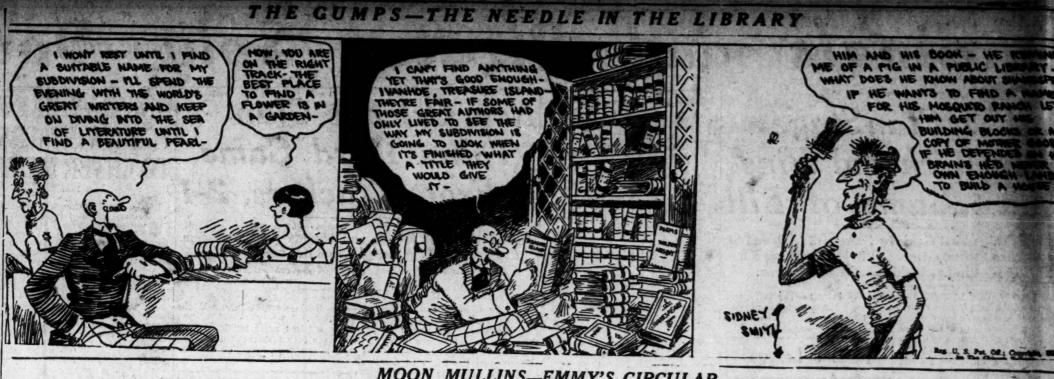

"Good heavens!" Fairways' steel blue eyes flashed sideways at her, then back, without an instant pause, to the galloping upheaval in front. But three more words had burst upon her exicted ears, making them tingle ruby with the insult: "You fool—you little fool!"

The blue-gray shadows had broken into a wild riot and were racing in a dozen different directions. The great bull at which Fairways had taken such careful aim, startled at Richenda's shot, which rang out the second before the man's shot reached him, had taken a swift leap, catching that bullet some twelve inches away from the vital spot at which it had been aimed.

Interesting Clothes

Distinguished by Their Smartness

Style is the most important thing to consider in clothes for the college girl. Style, as it is accepted in the World of Fashion, and style as best suited to the individual type.

The College Girl's clothes must express her personality! To do that, they must be interesting. And indeed they are! Materials you have never seen before, colors more becoming and intriguing than you can imagine. Fabrics made more interesting by pleatings and fine tucks and intricate stitching. Firsca, one of Fall's favorite fabrics, shown in plain, striped and imported mixtures. A lovely new English Twilled Silk-combined with Frord Crepe. The combination of material is, you know, very smart.

A quaint plaid taffeta is pleated into a skirt to flash under a demure jacket of navy Frost Crepe, the duckiest little dress for Miss Size Fourteen.

In an open letter forwarded Monday to Eugene Talmadge, candidate for commissioner of agriculture, J. J. Brown, his opponent, asks Talmadge to explain a land deal the latter is said to have consummated with Telfair county while serving as attorney for the board of commissioners of that county.

This is the same question which was debated by Talmadge and Brown at McRae several weeks ago and in that debate Talmadge called on members of the county commission in the audience to state the facts about the case and they absolved Talmadge from any stigma in connection with the deal, it is claimed by Talmadge headquarters in Atlanta Monday.

The new letter, made public Monday, refers to the same deal and Brown asks Talmadge to make public an explanation of his part in the deal.

New Orleans, August 30.—Reports indicate fleashopper no longer active in most sections, but in a few localities they are still present and doing damage.

Normal fruiting after hoppers ceased work on cotton has been extremely variable. Should the prediction for more favorable weather in the cotton belt materialize, sales on bulges for a turn might prove profitable. However, we advise extreme caution in operating on the short side at this time as a return of unfavorable weather over the belt, which is not at all unlikely, in the near future, would in all probability cause a sharp advance in prices.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. New York, August 30.—Our market failed to respond to the better Liverpool cables this morning. New York, August 30.—(P)—The bond market continued quiet today with the price trend irregular. Considerable interest developed, however, in the forthcoming New York state issue of $28,475,000 4 per cent bonds, the bids for which will be opened Wednesday, and in the reports in banking circles of a stabilization loan of $250,000,000 to France.

Railroad liens made further recovery on the publication of additional favorable July earning statements.

Delaware & Hudson convertible 5s scored the greatest gain rising 5s scored the greatest gain rising 11-2 points to 1181-2, a new high mark. Missouri Pacific general 4s and St. Louis-San Francisco income 6s lost ground, and Chesapeake & Ohio convertible 5s sold off on a few Ohio convertible 5s sold off on a few transactions. Wednesday is the last day for converting the latter issue and if held over until tomorrow own-ers must either sell for cash or convert into stock.

The domestic vert into stock.

The domestic industrials were generally dull. An exception was noted in the demand for American Writing Paper 6 per cent certificates which jumped a full point to 60 which was close to that issue's record high mark. There was also heavy trading in International Telephone and Telegraph

Except for the second and third 4 1-4s there was little trading in the Liberty issues.

Department of Seine 7s featured the foreign group, mounting half a point to a new high at 903-8. Other French bonds held steady. Italian 7s were heavy.

Sugar.

New York, August 30.—While there was no change in raw gugar prices today, a better inquiry for refined developed. Shorts and commission houses were the principal huyers which advanced prices 2 to 5 points at one time, while houses with Cuban and European connections sold, checking the upward movement and causing slight reactions. The close was 1 to 4 points net higher. Approximate sales 42,000 tons. September closed 2.53: December 2.65; January 2.68; March 2.65; May 2.74.

The refined sugar market was tirmer and unchanged to 10 points higher, with fine granulated now quoted from 5.55 to 5.70.

The Howard Theater.

"Tin Gods" At the Howard theate this week, is one of the best pictures exhibited in Atlanta in many a month. The statement is made without qualia half a dozen other just as expensive words. You may disagree with the author regarding the tragic death of one prominent member of the cast—if you prefer the "happy ending." But that is no matter.

Before going into the picture, be reminded that the stage presentation is up to its usual extraordinarily fine form. It is Gus Edwards' "Gingham Review." Atlanta comes neare to view." Atlanta comes nearer to ear entertainment on the stage of the Howard theater than it does or ever has anywhere else. There seems to be something authentic about them. Probably there is. They say they come direct from Broadway. The chorus can be looked at without the slight-est effort. Clifton Grace is an ex-ceptionally versatile dancer. And there s a girl in the thing who can kick nigher and easier than anybody else in the world. "The Shiek" is an added attrac-

Thomas Meighan takes the male lead in "Tin Gods." He marries an ambitious woman who nearly wrecks his life. The wife is played by Aileen Pringle, whose performance is fault-less. Meighan, as a bridge engineer, goes down in the black fever belt to build a great bridge. He goes there alone, broken with grief. Liquor gets him and drags him down. But view down. alone, broken with grief. Liquor gets him and drags him down. But vivacious, refreshing and lovely Carita, played by Renee Adoree, the star of "The Big Parade," saves him from death and disgrace. That sounds a bit flat. But it is really good and well acted throughout, with Meighan and Adoree performing as they never have before. Hale Hamilton and William Powell add to the success of "Tin 7:30 pm... Scenes in "The Son of the Sheik" are laid "just south of Algiers," where there's plenty of clean white sand that makes a fitting place for sand that makes a fitting place for a rich tent for an Arab, and there's more than one rich tent in the pic

Outthrills "The Sheik." Withal, the last picture of Valen-tino's is even more thrilling than "The Sheik," in which he became famous, as the screen sheik. In some measures there are more knives thrown and more sabres drawn than in its predecessor, and E. M. Hull, author of both stories, had more time to reflect on thrilling situations

Innate curlosity is just as predom that I have, and they also will say that Alien Couch's rote has always been cast ferries by and without any effort to dedge any of the issues. We all do, but I have endeavored to give Atlantans the best there is in me, and I am proud of my record."

Holloway Applauded.

"I have been accused of being too strict and unmerciful in the rigid enforcement of the law against driving automobiles under the influence of liquor." Judge Murphy M. Holloway, candidate for reelection as recorder of the second division, stated. "I have been strict with this and will continue to be. Every man who pilots a car under the influence of drink is a potential murderer and developed a car under the influence of drink is a potential murderer and developed to the scene in "The Son of the Sheik"

Love and hate, the deep-laid passions of Arab and French elash in the story in an interesting, entertaining and thrilling manner. These with a little pinch of comedy and other qualities help to round out one of the best productions in years.

—J. RUFUS HARDY. Is Set for October Here; Walsh, Benson To Preside

> garding American Merchant Marine.

Washington, August 30 .- (Special.) -The purpose of the hearings y shipping board representatives in Atlanta in October is to ascertain from representatives of trade organizations, business men and shippers there just what sort of policy they believe should be adopted regarding the American merchant marine.

Admiral W. S. Benson, a native Seorgian and for several years a mem-er of the board and Commissioner Walsh will conduct the hearngs in Atlanta. Representatives of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, of various business and civic organizations, as well as shippers will be invited to the hearings to express their views as regards the needs of the territory and the relation of those needs to the merchant marine.

Nation-Wide Hearings.

In pairs, members of the shipping oard are holding similar hearings in all parts of the country preparatory to making a report to congress as to the future policy of the American merchant marine. The board was ordered to conduct a survey in a reso-lution passed by the last session of congress, which was offered by Sena-tor Jones, of Washington, chairman of the commerce committee.

The American merchant marine is behind in business. At the present time American vessels carry but 35 per cent of the import and export shipping trade of this country, while the merchant marine act of 1920 sets 52 per cent as the minimum that American bottoms should move. Since it rejected the ship subsidy bill during the Harding administra-tion, congress has delayed action on any definite program for the mer-chant marine. The shipping board wants to get the fleet of vessels which it acquired during the war back into private hands, but American opera tors have not been swift to take them over because of the competition which American vessels meet from those flying foreign flags, whose operating expenses are much lower.

Want Public View.

There is no likelihood of a direct subsidy to American operators such as was proposed in the subsidy bill, but some form of indirect aid probably will be recommended to congress in order to put the American merchant marine on its feet.

It is to get the views of the public generally on these problems that the hearings will be held in October.

BURIAL IN ARLINGTON SLATED TODAY

To Last of "John Rodgers"

Havre de Grace, Md., August 30.—
(P)—The ancestral home of a long line of naval heroes today said farewell to the hat "John Rodgers" in the active service of his country. In the sombre hallway of the Rogers home at Sion Hill brief funeral rites were said over the body of Commander John Rodgers, killed Friday in an airplane fall at the Philadelphia navy yard. The service, that of the Episcopal church, was scarcely 15 minutes in length. A brief scripture reading and prayer was all. John Rodgers was among his own people. No eulogy was needed and there was none.

The Rev. Lewis Beeman Browne, St. John's church, Frostburg, Md., officiated. Rev. Browne formerly was rector of St. John's of Havre de Grace, the church home of the Rodgers family for more than 100 years.

mation over the Rodgers existe during the services.

Joseph L. David Post, No. 47, of the American Legion, was mustered out as a guard about the estate.

Rear Admiral John A. Rodgers, retired, and Mrs. Rodgers, the commander's father and mother; Robert F. Rodgers, the only remaining son, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Meigs, cousins, were the members of the immediate family present.

Arlington Burisl Today.

Tomorrow Admiral and Mrs. Rodgers and Robert will accompany the commander's body to Washington, where it will be buried with full honors in Arlington national cemetery.

The flag draped casket, surrounded by floral tributes from sorrowing neighbors will remain at the Rodgers home tonight.

Admiral and Mrs. Rodgers, 78 and 72 years old, respectively, while showing their keen sorrow, displayed the true fortitude of the navy during the brief ceremony. To Admiral Rodgers, himself a naval hero, the loss of his son came as a double blow. Commander Rodgers is the second son to be mourned by the admiral, and hid death also removes from the active navy rolls the Rodgers name.
